| Differentiated Instruction; Adjusting to the Needs of All Learners by Mary Ann Corley | http://www.ncsall.net/?id=771&pid=736 | Through Learning Style Inventories, students can obtain a clear picture of their preferred modality for processing information. They will be able to identify their strengths and weaknesses. Teachers that use a multisensory approach and teach to all learning styles will have more students achieve success. | Learning to Learn...With Style |
